boutique beauté

I hope you and your family is well. CURE is closed till May 1st as of now.

You can reschedule online here:

If you're not already following us on Instagram and Facebook, you should! I have been going LIVE here and there with flash sales, tips and tricks. I have also been doing complimentary skin consultations via these platforms. Its fun to tune in because of the flash sales but its kinda like a mini party in your very own home.

So what do I have planned since we have to be closed till May 1 you ask? I will always post on our IG story and Facebook story about where I am going LIVE and what it will be about. On Facebook I will do random LIVEs when I feel inspired, and you're always welcome to pop in. I have one of my rooms at home set up as a mini spa, machines and all. So you may just catch me doing a facial on myself and explaining the benefits ,etc. These are all interactive!

On Instagram I will be going LIVE:

Thursday April 9th at 7pm with Carrie from Environ. We will be talking about the Environ Systems, Q&A, there will be discounts on Environ products for who ever tunes in plus free shipping, and a pick a name out of a hat give away!

Thursday April 16th at 7pm I will be going LIVE with Maya, the owner of Circcell. We will be doing a live virtual Launch of this New – Science backed- clean line that I have fallen in love with! We will offer discounts to whom ever tunes in and get to know why the brand is so amazing and a bit about Maya!

Thursday April 23rd at 7pm I will be going live doing a BABOR blow out sale! I have some really fun, new products that I have ordered to help us along at this time when we have to stay at home. I am super excited about the 27 day brightening kit!

The girls are working on Blog and video content as well. They are happy to share their experience during this time, and what they have been doing at home to help keep their skin, brows, nails in check. The content will be fun, as you know my team is fun!

Also right now, our website has some products discounted at check out. If you love SWISS LINE and we have it in stock, you may want to take advantage at this time of 20% off!
